About PCR

The Person, Culture & Religion Group is an informal association of scholars and practitioners in the fields of religion and psychology who share common interests in the relationship between religion, psychology, and contemporary cultures. The group's primary purposes are:

☞ to foster creative research in the fields of the group's interest, both academic and applied, though presentations given at the annual meeting of the group and through the group's newsletter and web presence;

☞ to encourage the exchange of ideas among the membership, through discussion and the announcement of research topics, course syllabi, publications, and projects; and

☞ to provide a forum associated with the American Academy of Religion for those with shared backgrounds in the fields of psychology, religion, and cultural theology. We are an unusually inclusive group. We come from a variety of theoretical and even disciplinary perspectives and we both study and follow different religious paths.

PCR functions both as a group and as an affiliated society of the AAR. As a group, PCR holds two regular sessions at each AAR annual meeting. As an affiliated society we hold pre-session meetings before the beginning of the AAR main program, usually on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning

These are separate programs in terms of their scheduling, but inseparable in terms of interests, membership, history, planning, and leadership. The PCR community is a rich, varied, and intellectually lively group united not only by a remarkable collegiality at its annual meeting sessions, but also by its thrice-yearly newsletter, its website, and its listserv.

Membership in PCR entitles you to three copies of PCR News, goodies at the Friday pre-session, advance copies of the papers for PCR sessions, plus the warm glow of knowing that you're helping us distribute PCR-related information to scholars, clinicians, and clergy members interested in our work.

$15.00 Regular Membership; $10.00 Student Membership (with copy of student ID). Checks should be payable to Person, Culture, & Religion Group. Send to:
